

Number	Title	Authors	Session
1	Using tDCS to facilitate learning of non-native consonant clusters	Adam Buchwald, Mara Steinberg Lowe, and Holly Calhoun	A
2	Modulations of word planning processes by dual-tasks: an ERP study with different SOAs	Raphaël Fargier & Marina Laganaro	A
3	Parallel Processing in a Language Task: Estimates from Intracerebral Single Trial Data	A.S Dubarry, A. Llorens, A. Trébuchon-Da Fonseca, R. Carron, C. Liégeois-Chauvel, C. Bénar. F.-X Alario	A
4	Aging of word frequency, syllable frequency and phonological facilitation effects in Chinese speech production: An ERP Study	Qingfang Zhang, Qun Yang	A
5	An adjustable-resource model of cognitive control in sentence production	Nazbanou Nozari, Clara Martin, Nicholas McCloskey, Barry Gordon	A
6	Executive control in language production by typical and developmentally impaired children	K. Sikora, A. Roelofs, D. Hermans, H. Knoors	A
7	Inhibiting the left inferior frontal gyrus via TMS has a persistent effect on naming same-category pictures.	Denise Y. Harvey, Rachel Wurzman, Priyanka Shah-Basak, Olufunsho Fayesitan, Daniela L. Sacchetti. & Roy H. Hamilton	A

8	Testing First-Order and Second-Order Constraint Learning in Visual Sequences	Jill A. Warker & Simon Fischer-Baum	A
9	Long-distance anticipatory coarticulation: a psycholinguistic perspective and method	Melissa A. Redford, Sergei Bogdanov, & Eric Vatikiotis	A
10	Vowel Space: Revisiting Phonological Neighborhood Density	Ariel M. Cohen-Goldberg, Jessica Mow, & Naomi Caselli	A
11	Second Language Fluency Impacts Spoken Word Recognition in the Native Language	Mona Roxana Botezatu	A
12	Relating L2 phonological production and perception to L2 vocabulary acquisition	Kinsey Bice, Judith F. Kroll	A
13	Cost-free language switching in bilinguals: Global or lexical control?	Daniel Kleinman , Tamar H. Gollan	A
14	The role of semantic structure is determining the need for non-linear syntactic planning in sentence production	Jens Roeser, Mark Torrance and Thom Baguley	A
15	Syntactic priming in language production: Evidence for separate mechanisms for syntactic structure and verb repetition	Baumann, Michael	A

16	Language-specific Biases Affect Priming during Message Planning	Carol Chun Zheng & Elaine J. Francis	A
17	Split intransitivity modulates look-ahead effects in sentence planning	Shota Momma, L. Robert Slevc, Colin Phillips	A
18	Verb-bias and verb-specific competition effects during spoken language production	Malathi Thothathiri & Sonali Poudel	A
19	Prospective and immediate stutter anticipations in reading	Joana Cholin, Sabrina Heiler, Alexander Whillier, Annett Jorschick, & Martin Sommer	A
20	Twisting tongues in English and Spanish	Zenzi M. Griffin, Lisa M. Bedore, J. Gregory Hixon, & Elizabeth D. Peña	A
21	Production-side noise inference: Comprehenders expect perseverative errors	Mark Myslín, Jake Prasad, Roger Levy	A
22	Syntactic entrainment in aging and aphasia	Jiyeon Lee, Sonal Kumar, Jessica Dick, Victor Ferreira, and Nick Gruberg	A
23	Zooming in on interaction between planning and articulation through the lens of disruptions	Rhonda McClain, Emily Cibelli, Erin Gustafson, Cornelia Moers, and Matt Goldrick	A

24	Orthographic effects in Mandarin spoken language production	Qingqing Qu, Markus F. Damian	A
25	Tracking the time course of lexical access in orthographic production: An event-related potential study of word frequency effects in written picture naming	Markus F. Damian, Qingqing Qu, Qingfang Zhang	A
26	The relationship between speech production and perception representations in different non-native sound contrasts	Misaki Kato & Melissa Baese-Berk	A
27	A Recurrent Neural Network Model of the Development of Child Productive Vocabulary	Philip Huebner & Jon A. Willits	A
28	Linking Hand to Mouth: The Relationship Between Manual Dexterity and Language Skills in Typically-Developing Children	Penny M. Pexman and Michele Wellsby	A
29	Frequency affects pronoun production	Sin-Hang Lau	A
30	Language produced after encountering different metaphorical frames for illness	Rose Hendricks, Lera Boroditsky, Zsofia Demjen, Elena Semino	A
31	Distributional changes in speech: Speakers target hyper-articulation to avoid highly confusable speech	T. Florian Jaeger & Esteban Buz	A

32 ERP contrast of semantic facilitation vs interference in picture naming Python, Gregoire, Laganaro, Marina A

33 Distinguishing languages from dialects: A litmus test using the picture-word interference task Alissa Melinger B

34 Lesions to the Left Lateral Prefrontal Cortex Impair Decision Threshold adjustment for Lexical Selection S. Ries, R. Anders, L. Van Maanen , F.-X. Alario B

35 German verb morphology in overt language production: an ERP study T. Marusch, L. Jäger, L.Neiß, I. Wartenburger, L. Nickels and F. Burchert B

36 Delayed versus immediate production: An ERP study of morphological processing Stone, Kate; Jessen, Anna; Clahsen, Harald B

37 Testing the role of auditory feedback in repetition reduction Cassandra L. Jacobs, Torrey M. J. Loucks, Duane G. Watson, Gary S. Dell B

38 Domain-specific control in language production Michael Freund and Nazbanou Nozari B

39 Recruitment of cognitive resources during perspective-taking varies with contextual demands Alison M. Trude, Barry Gordon, Nazbanou Nozari B

40	Information structure in bilingual Spanish-English child speech	Pablo Ceja Del Toro, Jidong Chen, Bhuvana Narasimhan	B
41	Response Planning and Execution Dynamics during Form Preparation: New Evidence from Continuous Lip Trajectories	Peter Krause, Alan H. Kawamoto	B
42	Changes in semantic and letter fluency in aging	Jean K. Gordon & Megan Young	B
43	Competition affects voice onset time differently for voiced and voiceless stops	Noah Nelson and Andrew Wedel	B
44	Morphophonological patterns influence past-tense production	Stacey Rimikis, Adam Buchwald, Michele Miozzo	B
45	Second-language lexical knowledge benefits first-language lexical retrieval	Eve Higby, Seamus Donnelly, Jungmee Yoon	B
46	Factors influencing variability in native and non-native speech production	Melissa M. Baese-Berk, Charlotte Vaughn, and Misaki Kato	B
47	Language switching costs in picture naming: Evidence from highly proficient Chinese learners of Japanese	Ying Deng and Chie Nakamura	B

48	Language Selection at Multiple Levels: The Time Course of Facilitation and Interference Effects in Cognate Production	Laura Muscalu, Patricia Smiley	B
49	Structural priming across the lifespan	Jayden Ziegler & Jesse Snedeker	B
50	Parallels between Action Priming and Syntactic Priming	Mark J. Koranda, Federica Bulgarelli, Daniel J. Weiss, Maryellen C. MacDonald	B
51	Garden-path sentences: perspectives from a production task	Ana Besserman and Elsi Kaiser	B
52	Attraction from afar: What influences verb number choice in Basque sentence production	Bojana Ristic, Simona Mancini, Nicola Molinaro	B
53	Learning verb structures: Do speakers only learn what they see?	Danbi Ahn , Daniel Kleinman , & Victor S. Ferreira	B
54	Competing plans explain agreement errors	Laurel Brehm & Matt Goldrick	B
55	Language recovery in aphasia following implicit structural priming	Grace Man & Jiyeon Lee	B

56	Facilitatory effects of syllabic frequency in aphasic speech production: evidence from patients with phonetic and phonological impairments	Anna Marczyk & Lorraine Baqué	B
57	Language treatment improves online sentence production processes in aphasia: Evidence from eyetracking	Jennifer E. Mack, Michaela Nerantzini, Matthew Walenski, Min Liao, & Cynthia K. Thompson	B
58	Pickiness and privilege come at a cost: Syntactic diversity effects in bare-noun picture naming	Nicholas A. Lester & Fermín Moscoso del Prado Martín	B
59	How differences between child-directed spoken and written language may have consequences for early language production	Jessica L. Montag	B
60	Priming Implicit Communication	Alice Rees & Lewis Bott	B
61	Learning from past miscommunications: Phonetically specific errors by interlocutors lead to phonetically specific hyper-articulation by speakers	Esteban Buz, Michael Tanenhaus, & T. Florian Jaeger	B
62	Conceptual representations of edited words linger in working memory: Evidence from pronoun production	Hossein Karimi and Fernanda Ferreira	B
63	Measuring articulatory reduction in silent gesture	Savithry Namboodiripad, Ryan Lopic, Daniel Lenzen, Tessa Verhoef	B